AN ODD TALE OF A SQUID

Octopus at Aquarium
Brooding on its Eggs.

There is a squid out at the Aquarium that is brooding over a mess of eggs. This is not a fairy story. It is a plain statement of fact. And fancy a hideous nightmare of a thing like an octopus exhibiting so tender an emotion as solicitude for its unhatched young!

For there is going to be an increase in the family in the house of the octopus. Maybe it will be an increase of a million or two. And mother and children will do well, too, so long as the lady octopus stays on watch.

But, seriously, that big white octopus that clings to the underside of the rock mass in the tank is brooding over a mess of a million or two eggs. There is not a doubt of it. Maybe she had to do it, to save them from an unnatural father, with a tooth for roe. Maybe it is necessary that she should brood upon the eggs to hatch them. It may be the habit of the squid to brood. It is a fish that has lots of enemies, from the rock cod in extreme youth to a healthy Hawaiian in middle life and the sperm whale when it reaches its extreme limit of growth. And if the male octopus eats the eggs of its own species, then the squid does not have much chance at any stage of the game.

That mother squid at the Aquarium isn't taking any chances with her lot, you know. And, still more strangely, besides the mess of eggs that the female squid is brooding upon, there is another bunch of eggs clinging to the rocks in a different part of the tank, alone and unprotected. Orphans, these are, maybe.

The spotted eel, the one that looks particularly like a snake, has been wickedly distinguishing himself. The Aquarium Jap put a strange eel in the tank the other day, just about two inches shorter than the spotted fellow, and the spotted one deliberately swallowed the stranger alive. Yesterday that spotted eel, for the most of its length, looked like a doubled eel. You could see the one inside quite plainly, and it was giving an occasional kick, too. And at such times the spotted chap would gasp and squirm in a way decidedly suggestive of a dire need for a stiff dose of Jamaica ginger.

It was cloudy at the beach yesterday, with a strong trade wind, but a beautiful day, and the resorts were well patronized. However, the band played at the Capital grounds instead of at Makee Island, and so there were not so many Sunday visitors as usual.

JOYS OF MATERNITY

A WOMAN'S BEST HOPES REALIZED

Mrs. Potts Tells How Women Should Prepare for Motherhood

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to childless and lonely old age. Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to a displacement of the womb or lack of strength in the generative organs.

Mrs. Anna Potts

Frequent backache and distressing pains, accompanied by offensive discharges and generally by irregular and scanty menstruation indicate a displacement or nerve degeneration of the womb and surrounding organs.

The question that troubles women is how can a woman who has some female trouble bear healthy children?

Mrs. Anna Potts, of 510 Park Avenue, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

"My dear Mrs. Pinkham:—During the early part of my married life I was delicate in health; both my husband and I were very anxious for a child to bless our home, but I had two miscarriages, and could not carry a child to maturity. A neighbor who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it. I did so and soon felt that I was growing stronger, my headaches and backaches left me, I had no more bearing-down pains, and felt like a new woman. Within a year I became the mother of a strong, healthy child, the joy of our home. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a splendid remedy, and I wish every woman who wants to become a mother would try it."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free to expectant or would-be mothers.

WILL SING OF HAWAII

The "Sonny's" Quintette
May Tour the Mainland.

When the Hawaiian Quintette Club, which is to appear this summer at the Sea Beach Hotel, Santa Cruz, Cal., finishes its engagement there, it is quite possible that it may tour the United States if a circuit can be arranged. From information which "Sonny" Cunha has received there is good ground for supposing that a circuit engagement will be arranged to take in the principal cities, at least as far east as Chicago.

Mr. Bergstrom of the Bergstrom Music Co., who left for the mainland recently, intended looking over the field and making an effort to interest theatrical managers in the quintette, for, without disparagement, the club about to leave here is one of the best yet organized. John Ellis is easily the premier of Hawaiian tenor soloists, and Ben Jones has long enjoyed the reputation of being the greatest basso the Islands have ever produced.

The club is gathering together an immense amount of music. There is a great stack of Hawaiian music, of course, and plenty of up-to-date compositions in English. On arrival at the coast the club will receive the first press copies of the song dedicated to Princess Kawananakoa, "The Old Plantation," and the "Rose of Hawaii," both new compositions, which will be played at the initial concert at Santa Cruz. The club leaves for San Francisco on the Alameda on June 7.

COL. MCLELLAN QUOTES LAW AND REGULATION

Editor Advertiser—In the article on first page of your paper this morning I am not correctly quoted in more than one respect.

As the subject of the use of the Regular Troops in case of lawless violence, or riot, is an important matter and of interest to many of your readers I would request that you publish the enclosed copies of a section of the law and also of Paragraphs 486 and 487, U. S. Army Regulations.

Very respectfully,
JOHN MCLELLAN.

Lt. Col. A. C.

Sunday, May 28, 1905.

U. S. LAW.

Sec. 67. That the governor shall be responsible for the faithful execution of the laws of the United States and of the Territory of Hawaii within the said Territory, and whenever it becomes necessary he may call upon the commanders of the military and naval forces of the United States in the Territory of Hawaii, or summon the posse comitatus, or call out the militia of the Territory to prevent or suppress lawless violence, invasion, insurrection, or rebellion in said Territory, and he may, in case of rebellion or invasion, or imminent danger thereof, when the public safety requires it, suspend the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, or place the Territory, or any part thereof, under martial law until communication can be had with the President and his decision thereon made known. Act of April 30, 1900 (Stat. L., 153).

ARMY REGULATIONS.

Par. 486. If time will admit, applications for the use of troops for such purposes must be forwarded, with statements of all material facts, for the consideration and action of the President; but in case of sudden and unexpected invasion, insurrection, or riot, endangering the public property of the United States, or in case of attempted or threatened robbery or interruption of the United States mails, or other equivalent emergency so imminent as to render it dangerous to await instructions requested through the speediest means of communication an officer of the army may take such action before the receipt of instructions as the circumstances of the case and the law under which he is acting may justify, and will promptly report his action and the circumstances requiring it to the Military Secretary of the Army, by telegraph, if possible, for the information of the President.

Par. 487. In the enforcement of the laws troops are employed as a part of the military power of the United States and act under the orders of the President as Commander-in-Chief. They cannot be directed to act under the orders of any civil officer. The commanding officers of troops so employed are directly responsible to their military superiors. Any unlawful or unauthorized act on their part would not be excusable on the ground of an order or request received by them from a marshal or any other civil officer.

Easy.

One little maid whose duty it was to admit callers stood at the entrance of a handsome Gulf City house.

The caller asked: "Is Mrs. Baylor in?"

"No'm."

"Is Miss Baylor in?"

"No'm."

"Is Mrs. Baylor, Sr., here?"

This last was too much for the new maid to hear with equanimity ("seen yer here").

OF EDUCATIONAL INTEREST.

Courses in the history of modern art will be introduced at Dartmouth college under the direction of Homer Eaton Keyes.

In 1899 Argentina had 4,291 primary schools, with 427,311 pupils. There are two national and three provincial universities.

Official statistics show that there are 17,000,000 children in Russia between the ages of six and 14 receiving absolutely no education.

The Frankfurter Zeitung reports that the number of foreign students at the French universities is steadily increasing. During the past academic year the total was 2,510, and of these 1,003 were women.

The coeds of the University of California decided recently to go bareheaded in the campus and in the streets, regardless of weather. But the senior girls have now decided to wear the mortar board, and the juniors, sophomores and freshmen accuse them of breach of faith.

His excellency, Sheng, mightiest of all the great men in China, has been induced by Prof. John Fryer, of the California state university, to provide five scholarships for Chinese students now at the university. These are the first scholarships ever given by a Chinese official to students of any American or European university.

Dr. J. Mackintosh Bell, of Ottawa, an Austin instructor at Harvard, has just been appointed geologist for the government of New Zealand. Dr. Bell, who received his Ph. D. at the last Harvard commencement, was formerly attached to the geological survey of Canada. A few years ago while leading a government expedition in the extreme north in search of minerals he had some unusual adventures in the Arctic region.

The handsomest private cars in the world are owned by Adolphus Busch and Charles M. Schwab. Busch received his as a present from friends. Mr. Schwab's is new, built at a cost of $50,000, and is one of the most luxurious things on wheels. It is 70 feet long, including an observation compartment of 20 feet. The ceiling is hand painted. The furniture, which, like the general appearance of the car, is in Louis XV. period, is all hand-made. Each of the brass bedsteads in the two staterooms cost $1,000.

Concerning Coffee

LET US DISCUSS FOR A MOMENT THE QUESTION OF COFFEE.

There is no other drink which can supply the satisfaction obtained from a cup of rich, clear, aromatic coffee.

All coffee doesn't possess the above qualities. Much is muddy, flavorless or tastes of foreign matter introduced for purposes of profit by unscrupulous makers.

Our OLD KONA COFFEE is the best in the world. The secret of its superb quality is in its purity, age and the fact that we roast and grind every day. Our coffee is never allowed to grow stale on our hands. The price is 25 cents per pound.
